Lives Aglow

abundant life to us

Masters of deceit come to steal away, but Christ came just to give.
His lifeblood drained upon the tree that the abundant life we might live.
Abundant not so much in size, or shape, or quantity,
But rather in those precious things composing quality.

It's not a life granting your every wish and desire,
But one furnishing results to stand the trial by fire.
He became poor that we might be rich; that's what He spoke about-
A life so filled only those who haven't encountered it can doubt.

We have just to depend upon Christ's storehouse glorious,
For we realize only through Him can life become victorious.
As Christ is the Vine and we the branches abiding,
We see it's a life bearing fruit–even others guiding.

God's grandest gifts are held in trust for those who will obey;
It becomes a life, excitement mounting, each pace of the way.
The abundant life is one so filled with Christ and all He gives,
That it overflows engulfing others that they too may live.

"Steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord" - this typifies the nature and character of those to whom we dedicate this edition of LIVES AGLOW. Only such persons as the Fick sisters could follow the rugged schedule that they do. From 4:30 a.m. to the end of the day, they consistently make wise use of their time, even one working while the other drives.

Because of their labor, we recognize that WBI is indebted to the Fick sisters for the role they have played in the school's history. They have watched WBI grow from its beginnings on the second floor of the First Christian Church in Englewood to its present status. And Miss Helen could tell you how she was anticipating a Christian Serviceman's Center before finding herself involved with WBI.

Miss Helen and Miss Elsie have endeared themselves to us in many ways. They have brightened our days with their friendly smiles and cheerful greetings, Their mature wisdom and spiritual counsel have helped us along the way to a better life. A faithful love for us and their love for our Lord Jesus Christ have challenged us. They have selflessly given of their very lives in so many little ways.

So it is with great pleasure that we dedicate this annual to Miss Helen and Miss Elsie Fick, as we consider them our double portion from the Lord.

Dear Student,

Even though I have been on Western Bible Institute campus for only four months, a number of interesting and exciting phrases and idioms have come to my ears from students — Statements like "life-style living," "acceptance of self," "proper self-image" and other related expressions. Yes, I would fully agree that a correct attitude toward self is vital for your Christian walk and ministry.

However, almost every day some form of the expression of being like Christ has been intimated. It is my fervent prayer and desire that each of us is constantly being conformed to the image of God's own Son. The Apostle Paul admonishes those at Galatia, "my little children, with whom I am again in labor until Christ is formed in you." And the Apostle James pointedly comments, "in the exercise of His own will He brought us forth by the word of truth, so that we might be as it were the first fruits among His creature." May each of us reflect the Son in his walk, ministries, and home and to a sin-sick world.

Until He comes,

Mr. ADRIAN HOUSE — WBI'S FOURTH PRESIDENT

The great man hunt is over!

After more than two years of searching, a new president has been found for Western Bible Institute.

The Board of Trustees announced recently that 36 year-old Adrian House of Whittier, California, has been named to fill the top administrative post vacated by Dr. Stanley Toussaint in 1969. The appointment was greeted by cheers from the WBI student body.

Mr. House, a long time booster of WBI, has been associated with Biola College since 1968 where he is presently Alumni Director. During this period he has also seen faculty service at Talbot Theological Seminary, teaching classes in personal evangelism and church planting. According to one colleague, there was no one among the entire faculty and staff of both Biola College and Talbot Seminary "who is more highly thought of and respected."

Before accepting his post at Biola, Mr. House distinguished himself as a pastor and leader in churches in Nebraska and Wyoming. His last church in Cheyenne, Wyoming, he started with only four people and in just four years saw its congregation grow steadily through a consistent ministry of visitation and evangelism.

The new president has also gained some reputation in recent years as a dynamic evangelist. He is constantly in demand for evangelistic meetings, Bible conferences, and youth gatherings all over the Western portion of the country.

Mr. House did his undergraduate work at Biola College and later received his Mastor of Religious Education degree from Denver Theological Seminary in 1962.

Before beginning his academic training, Mr. House served in the United States Marine Corps where he found Christ as his Saviour.

Mr. House is married to the former Juanita Hummell of Denver. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Bonnetta Hummell, was a former dorm mother here. The Houses have three boys: Mark, Torrey, and Paul.

Missions Conference

"Have your eyes caught the vision? Have your hearts felt the thrill? To the call of the Master do you answer, 'I will?'" With the beginning words of our theme song's chorus, again and again we faced the commission of our Lord to world evangelism during our annual missionary conference.

MUSIC GROUPS

After the Lord had delivered Israel out of the hands of Pharaoh at the Red Sea, Moses composed a song to commemorate the deliverance. Ever since the Lord's people have been a people of song, for as Moses wrote, "The Lord is my strength and song . . . . " In response to His mercy and grace and lovingkindness, the hearts of his people are filled with melodies of psalms and hymns and spiritual songs.

Music flows naturally from the experience of God's people as a response to His working in them. As praise and worship, the fruit of our lips is a pleasing sacrifice offered to the Lord by believer priests. It is, moreover, an evidence of the Spirit's filling and a genuine ministry by which believers can serve one another.
